RUM JSON Payload Definitions

🕐 1 Minute to read

The payload sent by the RUM JavaScript tag includes a series of abbreviations for various metrics. The definitions for each are as follows:

"v" stands for version

"pt" stands for post type

"ui" stands for user id

"si" stands for session id

"di" stands for site id

"pi" stands for page view id

"jsc" stands for js error count

"rf" stands for referrer

"pc" page view count

"vc" stands for view count

"rc" stands for redirect count

"jse" stands for java script errors

"m" stands for error message

"n" stands for error line number

"c" stands for error count

"ae" stands for app errors

"pg" stands for page group

"ab" stands for variation

"res" stands for resources

"wf" stands for waterfall

"nv" stands for new view (1 or 0)

"ind" stands for indicators

"tra" stands for tracepoints

) "cv" stands for conversion (1 or 0)

"rv" stands for revenue

"ri" stands for revenue items.

"np" stands for new page view (1 or 0)

"dh" stands for screen height.

"dw" stands for screen width.

"dn" stands for dns.

"fc" stands for full connect.

"wt" stands for wait.

"ld" stands for load.

"de" stands for dom interactive.

"dl" stands for dom loaded.

"dc" stands for doc complete.

"rp" stands for response.

"cl" stands for contentload.

"rd" stands for redirect.

"rc" stands for redirect count .

"sc" stands for secure connect.

"xe" stands for exit to entry.

"el" stands for entry to on load.

"pr" stands for prerender.

"maf" stands for mark above the fold.

"mfl" stands for mark fully loaded.

"mfv" stands for mark fully visible.

"mtu" stands for mark time to user action.

"tp" stands for time on page.

"tti" stands for time to interact.

"et" stands for engagement time.

"fet" stands for first engagement time.

"fid" stands for first input delay.

'vct' stands for vis complete.

"fid" stands for first input delay.

"fp" stands for first paint.

"fcp" stands for first content paint.

"u" stands for url.